CULTIVATING
THE SIXTH SENSE
DEVELOPING INTUITION AND COMMON SENSE
FOR EFFECTIVE LEADERSHIP

MISHA GOLFMAN

© 2013 Kroka Expeditions - ALL RIGHTS RESERVED
Four Core Principles of Intuitive Leadership:

- Observing the world around us
- Working with the elements
- Practicing skills for self-reliance
- Acknowledging the unseen world
Observing the world around us:

Intuition starts with clear observation

- cardinal directions
- time of day
- weather
- plants and animals
- celestial bodies
- other people
Working with the elements

Fire

Air

Water

Earth
Practicing skills for self-reliance

Working with observation, elemental forces, your own hands and natural materials to meet your own needs.
Acknowledging the unseen world
THE VALUES OF THE INTUITIVE GUIDE:

simple vs. technological

diversified vs. specialized

inclusive vs. exclusive

cyclical vs. linear

local vs. exotic

authentic vs. contrived
Simple vs. Technological
Diversified vs. Specialized
Inclusive vs. Exclusive
Cyclical vs. Linear

[Images of natural cycles: sunrise, full moon, water vortex, and cloud formation]
Local vs. Exotic
Authentic vs. Contrived
HABITS OF THE INTUITIVE GUIDE:

- gratitude vs. indifference
- stillness vs. busy-ness
- cooperation vs. competition
- observation vs. hypothesis
- adaptation vs. schedules
- giving and receiving vs. leave no trace
- meeting people vs. promoting privacy
- following omens vs. following plans
- mindful decision making vs. impulsive reactions
- stories vs. protocols
Gratitude vs. Indifference
Stillness vs. Busy-ness
Cooperation vs. Competition
Observation vs. Hypothesis
Adaptation vs. Scheduling Giving and Receiving vs. Leave No Trace
Meeting People vs. Promoting Privacy
Following Omens vs. Plans
Mindful Decision Making vs. Impulsive Reactions
Stories vs. Protocols
Real-Life Example:
Is it safe to drink this water?